DRESS AND MANTLE MAKING

To the Ladies of Victoria:

It affords us great pleasure to announce that we have opened a Dress and Mantle Making Department in connection with our Establishment, and having secured the services of a thoroughly competent and experienced lady to take charge, we feel assured that in introducing Mrs. Magridge, late of Toronto, to the Ladies of Victoria they can rely on their interests being carefully studied and receiving entire satisfaction in fit, style and workmanship. Taking this opportunity we thank our patrons for the liberal support extended to us in the past, and being determined to increase our efforts in providing the newest and most fashionable goods in the markets at the lowest reasonable prices, we respectfully solicit a continuance of your patronage.

Yours, very sincerely,

TO THE TIMES ONLY.

A New Fishery Treaty---Chamberlain Instructed to Open Up the Question.

A Royal Commission at Winnipeg---The Well-Known Lieut.-Col. Ross.

Special to The Times.]

Winnipeg, Nov. 13—The Royal Commission opened yesterday. Counsel for the Free Press and Call objected that the scope of the Commission was too narrow and should deal with all charges made in the alleged libellous articles. The objection was overruled by Judge Killam.

Norquay moved in the legislature last night for the extension of the powers granted to the Commission, but this was rejected by a vote of three to 25! Two Conservatives voted with the Liberal majority.

In the House to-day the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be taken up. Col. Clough will move the reply to the address and Jerome will second it.

FROM OTTAWA.

A Good Appointment—Wiggins a Member of the Ananias Club.

Special to The Times.]

Ottawa, Nov. 13—The Royal Electric Company will apply to-day to the Minister of Agriculture for an invalidation of the Edison patent for incandescent electric lighting in Canada, held at present by the Edison Electric Light Co. of Montreal.

It is stated in well informed circles here that Chamberlain is entrusted by the Imperial Government with secret instructions looking to the possible opening up of negotiations for a new fisheries treaty. Before returning to England after the wedding, it is expected he will sound the Republicans as to their views on the subject in order to lay them before the Imperial Government in person.

Wiggins, the weather prophet, was indignant to-day. He received by mail notification of his election as honorary member of the Ananias Club of Boston, Mass.

EASTERN PROVINCES.

The Nova Scotia Crop Report—Death of Lieut.-Col. Ross.

Special to The Times.]

Pictou, Ont., Nov. 13—Lieut.-Colonel Ross, ex-M. P., died yesterday morning. For the last twenty-five years Ross has been a prominent figure in the county of Prince Edward, financially, socially and politically. He was in his 71st year.

Toronto, Nov. 13—William Rowe, better known in Toronto as "Paddy Rate," has issued against the Globe an action for $5,000 damages for libel. He alleges that the Globe called him a "crook" and other hard names.

Guelph, Nov. 13—Several cattle died here recently from a mysterious disease which lurks on the river banks above and below Eastwood's Brewery.

Halifax, Nov. 13—Nova Scotia crop reports say the yield of wheat, barley, oats and peas has been a good average, but all other crops are below the average owing to unfavorable weather.

Seaforth, Nov. 13—A barber named Hodgins of this place has been arrested charged with setting fire to the house of D. D. Wilson, a prominent supporter of the Scott Act in Huron county.

LYNCHING ON THE YUKON.

Full Report of the Murder—Trial of the Indian—Hanged.

The first instance of the lynching of an Indian by white men, in the Yukon country occurred last summer, news of the affair having been brought to this city some time ago. The Alaskan contains the following: During the latter part of July, intelligence reached Nuklukayet, one of the Commercial Company's posts on the lower Yukon 700 miles below Forty Mile Creek through a half-breed, to the effect that a white man, John Bremner by name and between 50 and 60 years of age, had been murdered by an Indian, during the preceding month, at a point about 300 miles up the Koyukuk river, one of the tributaries of the Yukon, 200 miles west of Nuklukayet. A consultation followed among the forty odd miners at the settlement and they came to the conclusion to proceed forthwith to the scene of the crime. Twenty-five of the men volunteered for the purpose, and taking an interpreter with them, they started up the river on the steamer Pioneer owned by the company. A few days' steaming brought them within sight of an Indian village on one of the tributaries of the Koyukuk, and a landing was made. On instituting inquiries, it was found that all the Indians (the murderer being one of the party) had left the day before on a hunting expedition; the women and children alone remaining. Two of the former were interrogated and it was ascertained that the hunters intended to camp at a certain point not many miles away. With the assistance of these two women who took passage on the steamer and furnished the needed information, the camping-place was reached and the murderer found together with a relative, saw to be his uncle. On seeing the miners the young Indian, who was not more than 20 years old, started to run, but the old man being told that resistance was useless, he called back the murderer who at once surrendered. Both Indians were put on board the Pioneer and the return journey commenced. An investigation took place en route and the evidence of the prisoner and his uncle was heard. The testimony showed that while Bremner, who had camped on the bank of the river, was engaged in packing articles in his boat previous, to resuming his journey, the Indian had seized the white man's rifle and fired the fatal shot. Bremner, who was standing at the moment the rifle was discharged, fell back into the water, and so far as could be ascertained, he was never seen again. The murderer acknowledged his guilt, stating that he committed the deed under a sudden impulse. He testified that he had heard from the natives that Sneataw (who came to Sitka last fall to testify against Fuller, the slayer of Archbishop Seghers), had visited San Francisco and had been paid $700. He (the murderer) declared that he was under the impression that if he committed a similar crime he would also be taken to San Francisco and secure a like sum of money. The first trial resulted in no definite decision being arrived at by the miners, but when approaching the mouth of the river a second trial was held which determined the guilt of the accused and he was condemned to death. Next day he was hanged to the limb of a tree and while body was suspended several shots were fired into it. The murderer's uncle was put ashore at the scene of the lynching, the little steamer continued on her course and landed the miners at Nuklukayet whence they proceeded to St. Michaels.

ALASKA NEWS.

Mining Matters—Chinese Funeral—Governor's Report—Getting Ice.

From the Alaskan.]

Miners are coming in from the Yukon. Success has been but moderate this year, but nevertheless a great influx to the diggings is looked for next year.

There is over a foot of snow in Juneau City.

Alaska's salmon output is greater than that of British Columbia and the Columbia river put together.

Alaska celebrated her 21st American birthday on the 18th inst.

The funeral of Chin Yung, cook on the Pinta, and Au Fun, wardroom steward on the same vessel, who lost their lives by drowning, was of a most impressive nature. The crews of both the naval vessels in port and marine guard on shore took part in the ceremonies. The band from the Thetis, which accompanied the procession and played the Dead March, added much to the solemnity of the scene. The coffins were placed on two gun carriages and drawn to the Sailors' Cemetery where the interment took place.

Fifty-three miners arrived at Sitka on the war steamer Thetis. They presented an address to Lieut. Commander Emory, thanking him for relieving them from their unfortunate position at St. Michaels.

Governor Swineford is busily engaged in preparing his annual report which will be ready in a few weeks' time. In length it will be about the same as that issued last year. The report will treat principally of the cruise of the Thetis in Western Alaska; the development of the fisheries and minerals, and the general progress which has taken place in the territory during the past twelve months.

We have to welcome to our town, Lieut. James A. Smith, who hails from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and who relieved our old friend Mr. Charles P. Plunkett on the Pinta, the latter detached to Washington.

The fishing schooner Oscar and Hattie, 81 tons register, in command of Capt. C. Johansen, came into port on Monday last, 28 days from Puget Sound. She is one of the Gloucester fishing fleet which left the Atlantic coast last year and reached the Pacific during the spring. Capt. Johansen's primary object in coming into these waters was to secure a cargo of ice from Glacier Bay, the supply of the frozen article on the Sound being so limited that the price had reached $20 per ton—double its normal value. At the head of Glacier Bay 100 tons were taken aboard, boats putting off from the schooner and securing the ice by means of ice-hooks and cutting spades.

WAR INEVITABLE.

France Must Burst the Iron Circle—Germany Must Yield.

Rome, Nov. 12—The war official organ, the Espirito Italiano, prints an article on the relations subsisting between Italy and France, signed by its editor, who is accepted as being a high authority upon military affairs. It says: "Both France and Italy with perfect good faith protest that they do not intend to make an attempt. Nevertheless war is inevitable on the first occasion. France must endeavor sooner or later to burst the iron circle in which the unity of Germany and Italy has bound her. Let no one blame her for such an effort. Italy cannot do otherwise than continue in the alliance with Germany, because the success of the French arms, facilitated by Italian neutrality, would be bitterly felt by Italy. After a victorious war with Germany, war against Italy would be inevitable. Italian statesmen who have failed to recognize this would lead the country to destruction."

LADIES TAKE IT UP.

Miss West Gives a Decided Snub to Mrs. Cleveland.

Washington, Nov. 12—The Evening Post prints the following: One day last week Miss West, a daughter of the late English minister, was in a store on the avenue, and with her was a well known member of the Italian legation. While they were talking over a purchase, Mrs. Cleveland's carriage drove up to the store and she came in. She spoke to the gentleman, and for a moment talked with him. She then stepped toward Miss West and extended her hand in greeting; but the young lady would have none of it. She had not quite forgotten how Mrs. Cleveland's husband had snubbed her father, and with haughty grace she folded her hands in front of her and turned her back on the President's wife. It was embarrassing, very embarrassing—not only to the two parties, but also to the gentleman, and Mrs. Cleveland relieved it by transacting her business and walking out of the store without the usual parting salutations.

THE INSURANCE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—A scurrilous communication from "The Maligned Agent of the Citizens' Insurance Company," having a personal reference to myself, appeared in your columns yesterday, and I simply write to say that the so-called "insurance question" is really one in which insurance men alone are more directly interested, rather than the general public, hence the reason for my communicating with the Monetary Times in refutation of a lot of rubbish furnished the eastern insurance press for publication, by one of Victoria's busybodies, under the heading of "Fire Insurance in British Columbia." A copy of the communication referred to was re-printed in your columns last Saturday, omitting, however, the concluding lines, deprecating the indulgence of the press in matters of a personal character. The question of veracity, as suggested by your correspondent, is one which those who are more immediately interested are better qualified to judge than are your general readers; but as this sort of thing smacks so much of cheap advertising I will merely add, that I am by no means disposed to indulge in it, and to haggle in a newspaper controversy with a correspondent whose personal acquaintance I have never made. Yours, obediently, Victoria, Nov. 13, 1888. Robt. Ward.

EDM'ND YATES' LETTER

A Reconciliation Between the Emperor William and His Mother.

The Fortunes Made Out of the Boom in Melbourne---Sir C. Warren, Etc.

New York, Nov. 13—The following is Yates' letter to the New York Tribune: "London—I am pleased to be able to announce that Emperor William is now on good terms with his mother, a reconciliation having taken place. The Duke of Saxe Coburg Gotha has worked zealously in order to terminate the quarrels and misunderstanding which have distracted the Imperial family during the last six months. I hear that both the Emperor of Austria and the King of Italy earnestly exhorted the young Emperor to become reconciled without delay to his mother, and to treat her with the utmost consideration and with every possible distinction. The Empress Frederick leaves Berlin this week for England, and is not expected to return to Germany till early in May. A variety of matters which had been in dispute since the death of the Emperor were amicably settled last week. It is now practically decided that the marriage of Princess Victoria and Prince Alexander of Battenburg will take place shortly, probably in England, but privately.

Lady Herbert Agnes has gone to Washington to help her son, Mr. Michael Herbert, who is now temporary head of our legation. She will furnish his house and make the acquaintance of her daughter-in-law.

Sir Douglas Stuart has sold the whole of his family estate in Perthshire, subject to the approval of the court of sessions, to Mr. John Stewart Kennedy, of New York, a Scotchman who has made a very large fortune in America and proposes in future to pass half of each year in Scotland. The Murtley and Grantully estates of 3,350 acres include some of the best grouse moors in the Highlands, notably Loch Kennard Probollion and Dumour, which are respectively leased by the Comte De Paris. Mr. John Bell and Mr. Barclay Field, of Murtley Castle, are on one of the most beautiful places in Scotland. The Mar House, which has remained a mere shell, will be completed in accordance with the original plans and become one of the finest seats in the country.

The Parnell Commission and the Sackville incident have between them prevented the story of the land boom which began at Melbourne, and has now reached Sydney and is exciting considerable interest. The wondrous tale of this unearned increment is worthy of the Arabian Nights. Many people will be astonished to hear that some of the principal gainers are in the ranks of our nobility. Lords Rosebarry and Carnarvon have each made their pile. Lord Hindlip and Guinesses are among the luckiest and largest investors. Bob Lorne, Lord Sherbrooke, is now worth something like two millions sterling, although he began life as a college tutor with no other capital than brains. Lord Rosenberry has been investing steadily and judiciously for five years. The Athenæum, a magnificent club building, and his Sydney estate gives him a modest profit of 8 per cent.

On Wednesday evening Sir Morell MacLayel will deliver an address at the first meeting of the British Association Laryngologists, of which he was President during his absence at Charlottenburg.

Lord Lucan was one of the best known figures in the Row, which even up to last season he frequented regularly, in spite of his great age. His general appearance was that of a man of forty years, with his junior flat-brimmed hat, straggling whiskers and frock coat tightly buttoned over the waist, while his country seat was perfection. The late Lord took extraordinary care of himself, more especially as regards diet, only taking certain kinds of food, which were weighed out at every meal with scrupulous exactitude.

SIR CHARLES WARREN INTERVIEWED.

London Nov. 13.—Sir Charles Warren, Commissioner of Metropolitan Police who resigned yesterday, said last night: "Fourteen thousand letters regarding the Whitechapel crimes have been received, and every single clue has been investigated. There are yet some clues and ideas which are occupying attention, but which it would be impossible to foreshadow to the public."

TREATY OF COMMERCE.

New York, Nov. 13—A Herald special from Ottawa says, Sir Charles Tupper is negotiating for a treaty of commerce between Canada and Spain. He proposes to secure the same privilege as granted the United States by the treaty rejected in 1887. It was agreed in that treaty that the United States should admit duty free, with certain schedules of duties articles which were the products of the Spanish Isles, Cuba and Porto Rico, and that Spain should grant similar privileges in these Isles. It is hoped to build up an extensive trade in Spain and the West Indies and Canadian produces thereby cutting into the United States commerce in these isles.

BARK GROUNDED AND DAMAGED.

Hamburg, Nov. 13.—The Irish bark Edward Reoy, hence for San Francisco, grounded in the river this morning and then was damaged in collision with the steamer Elbe.

BOYNE COMPANY BUSTS.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—The California land and labor Company, a stupendous fraud upon laboring men in the United States, came to grief in the arrest of Lieut. Robt. Reed one of its originators early this morning. The Allemet Company have been flooding the South, Middle and New England states with circulars stating that since the law excluding Chinese from this country has been passed laborers of all classes have been in great demand in California and that company was in a position to bring laborers to this state on receipt of $6 45 who upon arrival would be given permanent employment. When Reed's room was searched 40,000 of the circulars and letters from nearly a hundred laboring men in the East asking for information concerning tickets were found.

THE NEW STEAMER.

The new passenger steamer Walla Walla, which has been remodelled at a cost of $150,000 successfully made her trip around the bay this morning.

NEW FISHERIES TREATY.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—It is stated in well informed circles here that Jos. Chamberlain has been intrusted by the Imperial government with such instructions looking to the possibility of the opening of negotiations for a new fisheries treaty.

NEW WESTMINSTER NEWS.

Meeting of Citizens—John Hendry for Mayor—Assize Court—Revival.

Special to The Times.]

New Westminster, Nov. 13—At the request of a number of citizens Mayor Dickinson has called a public meeting for this evening to discuss matters in connection with the New Westminster and S. R.

A petition signed by a large number of citizens was presented to John Hendry yesterday, asking him to become a candidate for the mayoralty for the year 1889. Mr. Hendry will reply in the course of a few days, and if he consents to stand he will most likely be elected by acclamation.

The union revival services will be continued at the church every evening during this week. So far these meetings have been largely attended.

The fall Assizes here commence tomorrow when the following docket comes up before Hon. Mr. Justice McCreight: Cotes, for the murder of John Basket; Henry Cook and Ah Jim, for murder of an Indian girl at Ladner's Landing, and Johnney, an Indian, for the attempted murder of Charley, an Indian; Donohue, two indictments for forgery; Jones, for the murder of Frank Durant; Johnny and Numday, Indians, two indictments, for larceny.

RETURN OF THE ESPEIGLE

After a Two Weeks' Voyage—A Successful Hunt.

H. M. S. Espeigle, Capt. Clarke, which left here on the 29th of October, returned to Esquimalt this morning. The ship proceeded first to Vancouver, where the officers were very hospitably entertained by Mrs. D. and I. Oppenheimer at a grand ball given at the Hotel Vancouver. The occasion was most enjoyable. The ladies of Vancouver proved to be charming entertainers; the flor was A1 at Lloyds, and the supper was fit for a prince. It is safe to say it could not be beaten, and the kindness and hospitality of the company to the guests was an incident long to be remembered. A number of the officers went up the line to Harrison and had a delightful trip. From Vancouver the ship proceeded to Nanoose Bay, where she anchored for three days and all hands went on shore with guns and dogs. Any amount of duck and snipe were found, and a few deer, and all hands had rare sport, although the weather was against them. The ship next proceeded to Nanaimo where the mails were taken on board, and she left for Englishman's river. Here some good sport was found and Doctor Bookey shot a large bear, which threatened to put an end to him before he was dispatched. The Doctor says the Arabs he met in the Soudan were nothing to that bear for the time it lasted. He poured all the number eight shot he had into bruin and then took the knife which he used to advantage but spoiled the skin. They next went to Campbell river where plenty of geese were found but they were terribly wild. A trip was made inland, and two large elk were seen and one was killed, and the magnificent antlers, the trophies of the chase, will hereafter adorn the quarter deck. The elk was brought down before Capt. Clarke's unerring aim. Very bad weather was experienced while north, snow and rain falling and wind prevailing incessantly. On the way the Espeigle ran into the Fraser river and anchored where some very good sport was found and the ship almost filled with game. All hands on board have been keeping Michaelmas and feasting on goose since the ship left. Mr. Charles Vernon was on board as guest of Capt. Clarke, and used his Winchester with deadly effect. The officers and men are, after all, glad to get back to Victoria, where they hope to remain to the end of their commission. The only regret is that the harbor of Esquimalt is not nearer to the city.

SALE OF FANCY WORK

By the St. James Church Sewing Society—Concert To-Night.

The ladies of St. James Church held a bazaar for the sale of work at Christ Church school to-day. The sale of the articles was most successful and comprised plain needle and fancy work, knitting, crocheting, tatting, embroidery in silk and wool, dolls, toys, &c. The following ladies of the St. James congregation assisted in the good work: Mrs Raymur, Mrs Archdeacon Scriven, Mrs Gore, Mrs Lowen, Mrs Jones Jones, Miss M Johnson, Mrs Crowe Baker, Mrs Prevost, Mrs W Goepel, Mrs Northcott, Miss Mallandine, Mrs Shears, Mrs J. Raymur, Miss Storey, Mrs McConnen. A sumptuous lunch was served, of which some 130 took part. The spread was well worth the money, consisting of cold meats, pies and pastry of every description, for 25 cents a head. No wonder it was so well patronized. The lunch was served under the superintendance of Mrs. Gore, ably assisted by Miss Sorby, Mrs Lowen, Miss Lowen, Miss B. Wolfenden, Miss Conny Jones, Miss Maud Higgins, Miss Eva Lowen, Mrs. Perry and the Misses Perry. Altogether the ladies of the St. James church are to be congratulated on the success of their laudable undertaking. It is hoped that the concert given in connection this evening at the Philharmonic Hall will be as successful. An excellent programme has been prepared. Those who attend may look forward to a treat.

PRINCE OF WALES.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—A few lines from a Britisher on the manner of celebrating our future King's birthday: To say that I was surprised last Friday would be putting it mildly. It was enough to make an Englishman indignant when the stars and stripes floated gaily over the American Consulate and two or three tattered flags were flying over the fire houses. The Government buildings, Post Office and City Hall had bare poles. On Independence Day I noticed dozens of flags flying. Is this a British or an American community? If the Government refuse to show their loyalty how can they expect the people to celebrate the birthday of the Prince of Wales as we formerly celebrated it? Englishman.

A Success.

The French Hotel, under the management of the well known epicure, Mr. Escalet, is meeting with excellent success. All speak in glowing terms of the cuisine. The place to get the best dinner in town. Meals at all hours during the day. *

JUNKETTING TRIP.

About a dozen different excuses are given for the present junketting trip of the Provincial Secretary to Ottawa. One report says that another deal is to be made among the "office hunters," and that the Provincial Secretary as a member of the "office hunters" party, has gone to the capital to attend to the shuffle and deal and to see that he is not left without a hand in the game. Another report says the mission has something to do with the vacancy, which will occur in Victoria city, should Mr. Duck ever entertain sufficient respect for public opinion to resign. Still another report published in the Winnipeg Call, states in effect, that the tour is made to accommodate the Hon. Mr. Dewdney, who would otherwise have been compelled to visit the province in person. The honorable Secretary will no doubt be rewarded for the service but the bargain is scarcely one which will commend itself to the taxpayer. Of course it will be claimed that the expenses of the trip were taken out of the proceeds from the town lots, which the government have recently sold at Vancouver and Nelson. This town lot business, to be sure, is a very convenient thing for a Government when it wants to raise a little money for a holiday for its members. It would be a good idea for the good old "Indian" who compose it to carry the principle a little further; we would suggest, for instance, that a Government ranch be established near the city and convenient to a market, so that a little butter and eggs could be sold by the Government to pay expenses whenever the Provincial Secretary wanted to make a trip to Ottawa. There would at least be no limit to the revenue from a source like this, but there would from town lots. A town lot can't repeat the operation like a hen. Anyway it is a very extraordinary thing that the Provincial Secretary should neglect public business and make a trip to Ottawa at the expense of the province to simply accommodate the Minister of the Interior, whether hens or town lots pay for it.

RESIGNATION OF SIR CHAS. WARREN.

Sir Charles Warren has placed his resignation as Chief Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police in the hands of the Home Secretary. This must be attributed to the expressed want of confidence in the gallant general to administer the workings of the Metropolitan Police force in the detection of the crimes which have lately spread terror throughout the great metropolis. Sir Charles Warren was appointed to the position for his well known military reputation, at a time when another military officer failed to meet the requirements demanded to preserve law and order. As a rule, military men have been a failure in the administration of the Metropolitan Police force. Sir Richard Mayne, the first Commissioner, was about the only successful officer in the position. He was an Irish barrister and successfully carried the force through many trials, culminating in the Hyde Park riots in 1866. These riots caused a change in the police administration. Sir Richard Mayne was superannuated as too old and infirm. On the other hand, Major-General Sir Duncan McGregor organized and administered the Irish Constabulary force for many years. That officer made the Royal Irish Constabulary what they are to-day, the elite of Europe and superior to any in the efficient discharge of their duty and the detection of crime. The present state of East London, given up to the assassination of poor, helpless, unfortunate women, the assassin stalking abroad with impunity, is a disgrace to civilized England, and could only be looked for in the Kingdom of Dahomey. It is to be hoped that the Metropolitan Police force will be more successful in the next commissioner, who should be a man of known reputation and experience. In dealing with the socialistic disturbances in Trafalgar Square, Sir Charles Warren was successful. The knowledge of a military organizer was of benefit in that instance. Such knowledge is nothing, however, in the detection of secret crime.

COAL IN BRITAIN.

The people in England, to judge from the correspondence in the London Times, are becoming alive to the fact that the greater part of the coal output is shipped to foreign countries, to the detriment of home manufacturers and consumers, and the exhaustion of the coal fields. The foreigner can obtain the coal cheaper at the pit's mouth, cheaper rates to the port of shipment, and the home purchasers are handicapped accordingly. The hard working colliers, who risk their lives, work at almost starvation wages. There are some six hundred thousand miners engaged in the collieries, out of which 10,000 are killed annually in the mines. The writers call on the legislature to interfere and advocate that all mines should be acquired by the Crown and be worked in the interest of the home manufacturers and consumers, and that the coal fields should be jealously guarded against the present wasting away, by being exported for the benefit of the foreigner and to the detriment of the British manufacturer. The writers also claim the interference of parliament to prevent the coal being acquired by a "combine." History teaches lessons and often repeats itself. It were well to learn in new countries the lessons taught by older lands. The people of this island are about in the same predicament as the mother country regarding this great question. If our land is to progress and prosper, we should ourselves utilize the gifts which nature has showered upon us with no unsparing hand.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By the new patent issued by the Queen Empress to Lord Dufferin, owing to his elevation to a Marquisate, that nobleman's eldest son, Lord Clandeboy, assumes the title of Earl of Ava! earl, with a lordship which embraces the whole Burmese Empire, of the largest and most splendid of British Dependencies. An Earldom of Canada or Marquisate of Australia could hardly be a more imposing title. Ava is an Empire! Such was the wish of the Queen, who might almost as well have created Lord Raglan, if he had survived and been victorious, Earl of Russia.

It appears that the two letters written about a month ago in the name of "Jack the Ripper" was the production of a young woman serving as a draper's assistant in a store at Bradford, Yorkshire. These letters were written for the purpose of diversifying her life with a little extraneous sensation. She wished to have a share in the excitement of the hour, the White Chapel murders; to see how far she could mystify the bewildered police and the press; and stimulate that vivid emotion of horror which these murders had excited, without injuring her own position or endangering her own livelihood. It appears that there was no love of notoriety in the case, for she took great pains to conceal her part in the matter. She pleaded when the letters were plainly traced to her, that she had wished only "to make a sensation;" which was no doubt the true motive, a very feminine one indeed. That young lady would be worth her weight in gold to society on this coast. She would keep us alive during the dull season of the year. We ought to invite her over.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Cable and American Dispatches—Interesting Items.

London, Nov. 12.—In the Commons to-day the announcement that Sir Charles Warren had resigned as Commissioner of Police, was received with cheers.

The police, as well as the general public, are delighted at the retirement of General Warren, whose arbitrary administration had rendered life miserable to them. Every socialist, and to his sorrow, almost every shop-keeper in the vicinity, remembers that to-morrow will be the anniversary of the bloody attempt of the mob led by Commoner Graham to force its way into Trafalgar Square in defiance of General Warren's prohibitory orders posted in London two days before, and many express a fear that the retirement of the man whose prompt action averted a terrible and prolonged riot on that occasion, will embolden the lawless element to violence upon the recurrence of the date of their discomfiture and repulse.

Notwithstanding, it is probable that either assistant commissioner Monroe, chief constable Wood, of Manchester, or C. E. Howard Vincent, M. P. for Central Sheffield, will succeed General Warren, though some say Matthews favors chief constable Farndale, of Birmingham.

At the inquest on the body of the Kelly woman to-day one witness testified that he saw the murderer enter the house with the woman shortly before the killing. He noticed that the man's face had a curiously blotched appearance, similar to that of a sufferer from secondary manifestations of a loathsome disease.

CHAMBERLAIN'S ENGAGEMENT.

Washington, Nov. 12—The Evening Post says that one reason given for the reticence observed by the Endicott family in regard to the engagement and marriage of their daughter to Joseph Chamberlain, is that the secretary of war and his wife have from the start been opposed to it on account of the great difference in age.

REDMOND RELEASED.

Dublin, Nov. 12—Commoner John E. Redmond has been unconditionally released from Wexford jail three weeks in advance of the expiration of his sentence. He was discharged on the advice of the prison doctors. He has lost 13 pounds during his confinement.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Dr. Dawson's Favorable Opinion of British Columbia—The Manitoba Railway.

Unveiling the Monument to the Heroes of Cut Knife—An Imposing Ceremony.

From our own Correspondent.]

Ottawa, Nov. 3—Dr. Dawson, of the geological survey, who spent a portion of the summer in British Columbia, has returned to the capital. I had a talk with him regarding the progress of that province. He speaks in terms of praise respecting what he saw on his travels. The crops, which were all housed in good order, were excellent, the mines, both silver and gold, were flourishing and the out-put of coal was larger than has been the case during any year in the past. As to the climate it was simply salubrious and the people were unbounded in their hospitality. Victoria, Vancouver and Westminster were progressive cities. The doctor is a keen observer, a ready conversationalist and has a good knowledge of all parts of the Dominion. His report on the mines, etc., of British Columbia will add to the interest of the annual colonial report.

MANITOBA CRISIS.

There is a deep interest taken here in the Manitoba crisis, as it is generally spoken of. When parliament consented to guarantee the Canadian Pacific bonds to the extent of $15,000,000 last session as the purchase of the monopoly privilege in the Prairie Province, it was thought the last had been heard of the question. But it seems otherwise. The construction of the Red River Railway was all but complete. Little remained to be done but to cross the Canadian Pacific. The usual request to the railway committee of the Privy Council, was made, and here the Manitoba Government were met by strenuous opposition. It was contended that the Red River Valley could not cross the C. P. R. on the ground that it was not a Dominion road, while the Canadian Pacific was, according to the statute of 1883. Of course the committee had the power to decide the question, and so put an end to the dispute, but Sir John Macdonald refused to do so and referred the point the Supreme Court.

THE HEROES OF CUT KNIFE.

In the unveiling of a monument to the memory of the Ottawa sharp shooters who fell at Cut Knife, the thoughts of the people have been turned back to one of the saddest and darkest pages in the history of the Dominion. Among the 311 citizen soldiers who went forth with Col. Otter from Battleford to make an attack on Poundmaker at Cut Knife were 20 of the Ottawa sharpshooters under command of Lt. Gray. In the fight two were wounded and two killed. Those killed were privates Osgood and Rogers. The body of Rogers was taken off the ground at once, but that of Osgood was, through some mistake, left behind in the retreat to Battleford. Next day it was sent for and when found was shockingly mutilated by the Indians. When brought to Ottawa they get a public funeral. Afterwards subscriptions were collected and a statue erected by Mr. Percy Wood, of London, England, at the entrance to Majors Hill Park. On Thursday last it was unveiled by His Excellency the Governor-General in the presence of some 5,000 people, all the city corps turning out on the occasion. Adjutant-General Powell, Lord Stanley, Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir Fred Middleton made appropriate speeches and the affair may be in every way pronounced a success. It might be mentioned that Osgood's mother died a few days ago and scarcely enough of men were present at the funeral to carry the remains to their last resting place. This reminds me of the remark made by the mother of Robert Burns, the Scottish bard, when the people erected a monument to his memory. She said that Robert had asked his countrymen for bread and they gave him a stone.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Lord Sackville is a good tennis player, anyway.

—Mrs. Barnhart, cor. Pratt and Broadway, has been a sufferer for twelve years through Rheumatism, and has tried every remedy she could hear of, but received no benefit, until recommended to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; she says she cannot express the satisfaction she feels at having her pain entirely removed and her rheumatism cured.

—Perhaps medicine taken internally is more efficacious than that applied outwardly, because it has the inside track.

—Differences of opinion regarding the popular internal and external remedy, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—do not, so far as known, exist. The testimony is positive and concurrent that the article relieves physical pain, cures lameness, checks a cough, is an excellent remedy for pains and rheumatic complaints, and it has no nauseating or other unpleasant effect when taken internally.

—When a man is thrown upon his own resources the man sometimes suffers, but usually it is the resources which get the worst of the encounter.

—First Relief Ultimately a Cure. These are the successive effects of one of the most deservedly popular remedies in the Dominion, Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, which reforms an irregular condition of the bowels and liver, invigorates the stomach, renews digestion, and changes the current of the blood from a sluggish and turbid into a pure, rapid, and fertilizing stream.

—The mausoleum of the Emperor Frederick, of which the corner-stone has just been laid at Potsdam, will be a reproduction of the Sepulchre Church at Jerusalem.

—Mr. T. C. Borchard, public school teacher, Norland, writes: "During the fall of 1881 I was much troubled with Biliousness and Dyspepsia, and part of the time was unable to attend to the duties of my profession. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure was recommended to me, and I have much pleasure in stating that I was entirely cured by using one bottle. I have not had an attack of my old complaint since, and have gained fifteen pounds in weight."

—To keep chestnuts from four to six months, a New England exchange advises mixing each bushel with a pint of salt, shake thoroughly and keep in a dry place, where the temperature is from 40 to 50 degrees.

—The longest word in the English language is not "smiles," although there is a mile between the first and last letters. The longest word is "beleaguered," with the equivalent of three miles between the first and last syllables.

DEAD YET LIVETH.

Anniversary Sermon Preached to the Orange Society by Rev. Mr. Wadman.

Published by request.]

[The following sermon was preached on Sunday 4th November by Rev. Mr. Wadman. It is published at the request of the society, the TIMES consenting the more readily because there is a gratifying absence of the illiberality which too frequently characterized utterances of this kind some years ago, especially in the eastern provinces.]

Text.—"He Being Dead Yet Liveth." Heb. XI.4.

Every man has two immortalities; one he carries with him when he dies—the one only thing he does carry. His wealth, his friendship, his influence must all stay behind, but one thing he cannot leave behind, and it's the one thing he can't help taking, I mean his immortal soul. But besides this immortality that man carries with him into the presence of God, he leaves another immortality here. "Being dead he yet speaketh," said the Apostle. How true that is and I want to illustrate this truth to-day by touching upon the lives of two individuals by way of comparison and contrast.

One of these was a man whom all Orangemen love, William III, Prince of Orange. In one sense he is dead, in another he lives. True we see him no longer in the councils of men, nor leading armies forth to war, nor wielding the sceptre from the throne. He is dead. He is gone. The place that knew him once knows him no more. Yet he lives, lives in some of the most eloquent chapters of our country's history; lives in the warmest recollections of many true and loyal British subjects; lives in every soldier's heart as a trumpet blast of inspiration. That voice that directed and cheered his troops on to victory is silent in the tomb, and yet that voice speaks, speaks to you who are here to-day. The sword that was never drawn save in a righteous cause, and never sheathed till the right was vindicated and the wrong avenged, hangs to-day in the British museum garden, a mere relic of the bygone, but the man back of that sword, the character of that man, was struck so deeply into his age and the principles which he espoused were such that the very appearance of the Orange Society in this place of worship to-day is proof of the fact that though "dead he yet speaketh."

The other individual I wish to speak about is one whom all christians love. The son of the carpenter no longer lives He toils not in his father's shop. The adze and the plane and the chisel have fallen from his hands. We see him no more in the streets of Jerusalem or journeying from village to village, preaching and healing and blessing. The mountains which he so often climed and wherein he prayed, the Sea of Galilee upon which, with his disciples, he again and again sailed, and whose storm tossed waters were obedient to his word, the garden wherein he sorrowed with great sorrow and prayed, "Father if it be possible" —all these remain but the teacher, the healer, the Christ is gone. Cruel men condemned him to the death, and more cruel men nailed him to the tree. But think you Christ is forgotten? Go into the world's art galleries and deface all the Madonnas and every other picture associated with the name of Christ; go into the world's libraries and destroy all the literature that in any way perpetuates the memory of Jesus; clamber over the fences of the world's grave yards and tear down every monument and slab upon which the name of Christ is chiselled; set fire to every temple, cathedral and chapel; burn this Bible, and if you like push your way through the gate of Heaven and put a torch to its very throne, compelling its citizens to rush forth from the awful ruin; yet amid the universal conflagration made dismal by the thunder of falling towers and tumbling walls, the redeemed ones of both earth and Heaven would still be able to lift up their voices and shout to the music of the skies.

"Jesus the name high over all
In hell or earth or sky."

The Prince of Orange was born at a critical moment in history. Twas as you know the latter half of the 17th century. France had become one of the wealthiest European powers. Her army numbered a 1,000,000 men. Her fleet consisted of over 1,000 men-of-war, strongly and powerfully equipped. Her monarch Louis XIV, was ambitious and warlike. Spain had sunken into disrepute. Germany was more or less inactive, and England was handicapped. He and Louis were sworn allies and the sworn foes of the Protestant religion. Their object was to coalesce their forces and march down upon every other nation and compel them to submit to the authority of the Pope. Just for the time it seemed as though the cause of righteousness was going to go out in blood. Good men trembled. An awful fear came down upon the church of God. She cried nightly for help. At last at the right moment, and as the right man in the right place, William, Prince or Orange, came forward.

Many hundreds of years previous to the birth of the Prince of Orange, there was another crisis in the history of righteousness. Prophets had foretold that a better day was surely coming. Wise men had written about it. Poets had sung about it. Gray-bearded seers had gazed off from earth watch towers watched and waited the first signs of its approach. Still the fight tarried, tarried long, ah! it was a critical moment. It seemed as though the cause of God was going to be swallowed up in the almost universal idolatrous worship. Only a few faithful witnesses were left. Even old Simeon seems to have been afraid to die lest no one would be left to wait for the coming day. At last, just in the fullness of time, the star rose in the east, the watchers shouted, the shepherds rejoiced, the angels sang, the wise men came with their gold from the east and the babe was found wrapped in swadling clothes lying in a manger.

Again the Prince of Orange had to contend with many overpowering difficulties. It seemed as though everything was against him at first. Left without a father when but a boy, cast among people who were suspicious of him, who were accustomed to look upon his very existence as a danger to the state—his every word was watched, his every action carefully noted, while the most adverse criticism prevailed in reference to what ever he did and wherever he went. But this was not all. When he grew up into manhood and ascended the throne and laid his plans to defend the cause of God. Oh! how much he had in the way of obstacles and difficulties, how few there were to gether around him at first, how many there were to discourage his every movement.

Look at Jesus Christ. There was not a minute of his life but what detectives were after him. They saw where he went and when he went. It was the business of hundreds of men to find out something bad in Christ. Oh! what hard, bitter things they said about the Prince of Princes. How they blackmailed his character and caricatured his conduct. Failing to find an evidence of weakness in his life, a life purer than the lilies which illustrated his sermon, clearer than the Galilian wave which laved his feet, brighter than the star which pointed down to his manger; these false witnesses blushed and staggered and fell under the weight of their lies, for "He was without sin, neither was guile found in his mouth." He surmounted every difficulty, thus the struggle was sealed with his own precious blood.

Again, William of Orange was a warrior. He had to be. I admit he would rather not have been; for no man in all history depreciated war and bloodshed more than he. But in his case war was a sacred duty and seeing the battlefield in such a light, he believed that Almighty God would give him the victory throught his courage and faith. William of Orange believed from the crown of his head to the sole of his feet that right was might and that a war waged in defense of rightousness and truth would be triumphant. And so his convictions were prophecies. His plans were Gods in spirit and His victories, the victories of the cross of Jesus Christ. His order was:

"Strike till the last armed foe expires,
Strike for your altars and your fires,
Strike for the green graves of your sires, God
and your native land."

Jesus Christ was a warrior. He had to be. War was then a sacred duty. Listen, "Think not that I came to send peace on the earth. I came not to send peace but a sword. For I came to set a man at variance against his father and the daughter against her mother and the daughter-in-law. And a man's foes shall be those of his own household." How true this has been. Look back over the history of the past, whenever truth has contended with error, whenever right has clashed with wrong, whenever good people have entered into conflict with bad people, it has been because Jesus Christ once lived and died and rose again from the dead. Yes, the Prince of Orange was a warrior, the Prince of Life was a warrior. "I came not to to send peace, etc." According to this we are all soldiers. This world's people are all divided up into two great armies. There is no neutral position. We are either for Christ or against Him, for the truth or against it. Where are you to-day, brother? Are you enlisted in the service of the Prince of Life? Do you fight under the banner of truth? If you do, you are on the winning side. He who said "All praise is given unto me" will yet subdue all nations unto Himself.

In one of the western battles during the late American War, Gen. Thomas was standing one day watching a body of his soldiers painfully pushing their way up a steep hill in the face of a withering fire. The General, though the bravest of the brave, for a moment grew impatient and was overheard saying, "They will never do it, they will never reach the top." His chief of staff stepped up to his side and tapping him on the arm whispered in his ear, "Time, General, give them time." And presently the moist eyes of the brave leader saw his troops victorious on the summit. These men were soldiers, so are we. They were climbing a hill, so are we. They were fighting a battle, so are we. The heart of their General gave them time and they were triumphant. The heart of our leader is giving us time, and we too shall win and triumph.

William Prince of Orange was a peace maker. A warrior he had to be, but a peacemaker he would rather have been. And no man ever worked harder to bring about a treaty of peace with all nations. The first thing he did upon ascending the throne was to make peace between Spain and the Empire, and form them into a coalition. But France was an all dominant power, and her king was bent on supreme authority. Had it not been for the weak-kneed King of England James II, and his strenuous efforts to destroy Protestantism we might never have heard of the Battle of the Boyne. For a long time the Prince of Orange resisted the urgent requests of his friends in England to land on their shores and champion their cause. Year after year he waited, during which time he spared no efforts to reconcile matters in England as well as elsewhere and not until he was driven to it did he take up arms and lead his troops to war.

The Prince whom we worship is the Prince of life and glory, and this day's world great peacegiver and peacemaker. Thank God for that. When we think of the terrible devastation and misery war has caused, are we not glad of this? Edmund Burke estimated that the nations of this earth had spent $30,000,000,000 in war. Think of that. Why the Revolutionary War alone cost our Imperial Government $680,000,000. The war of the French Revolution cost the same Government $3,000,000,000. Christendom (Christ-endom) has paid in twenty-two years $15,000,000,000 in wars. Think of the waste of money and property, but also the waste of life. Think of Napoleon ordering his troops to burn any house within a radius of 150 miles of Moscow. Think that in one battle under Julius Cæsar 400,000 perished. Under Xerxes 5,000,000 were slain. In the siege of Troy 1,800,000. At the battle of Waterloo almost as many thousands fell. At the battle of the Boyne hundreds upon hundreds. Oh! when we read this most sickening record we no longer wonder why good men and women everywhere to-day are earnestly praying that the time may soon come when the sword shall be turned into a ploughshare. Yes, I am one of those who believe that this world is Christ's and he must have it. What is the matter in this country? Why, all these troubles we read about taking place all over this continent? There never will be permanent peace in this land until Christ rules it. This continent was discovered for Christ and until our cities shall be evangelized and north, south, east and west shall acknowledge the Prince of Peace as King and Redeemer, we cannot have permanent prosperity. What is the matter with Spain? France? Russia? All the Congresses of the world cannot bring about permanent quiet. All the Bismarcks and Gladstones who ever lived cannot settle things. I will tell you what I believe: When Governments honestly, theoretically, but practically acknowledge the Saviour of the world, will there be peace in the United States, Spain, France, Germany, Mexico, peace everywhere. In that day the sea will have more ships than now, but there will not be one man-of-war. The foundries of the world will jar with mightier industries but there will be no moulding of bullets. Printing presses will fly their cylinders with greater speed, but there shall go forth no iniquitous trash. In laws, in constitutions, in scientific laboratory, on earth as in heaven, Christ shall have become the Prince of Peace. Friend, do you know where this great work of regeneration must begin? Here, right here—in your heart and in mine. Has it commenced in yours? Why not now? It is a beautiful moment when two persons who have pledged each other's heart and hand, stand in church and have the banns of matrimony proclaimed. Father and mother, brother and sister stand around the altar. The minister of Jesus gives the counsel; the ring is set; earth and heaven witness it; the organ sounds and amid many congratulations, they start on the path of life together. Oh! this day may be the marriage day of your soul here this morning. Stand up, immortal one. The beloved comes to get his betrothed. Jesus stretches forth his hand and says, "I will love thee with an everlasting love," and if you respond "My Beloved is mine and I am his," I will put your hand in his—"henceforth be one." No trouble shall part you; no time cool your love. Side by side on earth, side by side in heaven. Now let the blossoms of heavenly gardens fill the house with their redolence and all the organs of God peal forth the wedding march of eternity. "Those whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder."

Verily, William III. was a good man. He was a Christian. He believed in the one only true Father God and in Jesus Christ, the world redeemer. He believed in his gospel and studied this book in order to know and obey its truth. No king or warriors, or statesman ever lived a life freer from personal ambition or selfishness than the Prince of Orange. He stood on duty. His convictions were cast-iron. He did the right for right's sake, and fought for the truth for truth's sake. Alexander the Great kept sighing for glory because there was not another world to conquer. Cæsar sighed and mourned because he had not conquered all there was to conquer. Napoleon rushed into battlefields with an ambition, sometimes childish, occasionally demoniacal and at all times insatiable. But the hero we are talking about here presents a character in perfect contrast to all these. If I have studied the history of his life aright, I have found that if a purity of purpose, singleness of eye, rigid obedience to conscience, stern sense of duty and faith in God characterized the man. I tell you we all have reason to thank God for the life of William Prince of Orange. Supposing the battle of the Boyne had never been fought. Supposing France had got the supremacy over England in 1690. Supposing our country had fallen under papal jurisdiction. No, no, no. While Roman Catholicism has in it much that we may admire, much that is divinely helpful and even hopeful, I say to-day that we ought all—both Catholics and Protestants—to thank God for the battle of the Boyne, for the new era it inaugurated, for the freedom of religious worship all may now enjoy largely on account of it, for parliamentary speech, responsible government, &c., &c.

But here my comparison breaks down. Jesus Christ was more than a good man. Come for a moment and let us open these biographies. On the threshold of our study of His life we meet with this thought. He was the manifestation of the divine consciousness. He came to make known the thought of God—the love, the pity of God. And now we ask, how did he come? What was the character he assumed? He did not come as King William III., nor yet as a priest, nor a recluse. He became "he became the Son of man," born among men, living among men, teaching, healing and blessing—he was theirs. He lived in touch with their helplessness and hopelessness. The touch was divine, omnipotent—all saving. Put them, if you please, my two thoughts together. Christ's life was the divine consciousness, coming in touch with human consciousness that though such a touch your heart and mind might receive light, life, inspiration and God.

Have you felt this touch? Do you know Jesus?

A wealthy lady in one of the Eastern States was going off for some time and she asked her daughters for some memento to carry with her. One of the daughters bought her a marble tablet, beautifully inscribed, and another daughter a beautiful wreath of flowers. The third daughter came and said: "Mother, I brought no flowers or tablet, but here is my heart. I have inscribed it all over with your name and whenever you go it will go with you. The mother recognized it as the best of all mementoes. Oh! that to-day every man and woman of us would come and present a like gift to Him who claims naught but the heart. Come at once and put that sad, sin stained heart of yours in his hand and say: "Here Lord, what thou claimest is thine and thine forever."

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of the Movements of Well Known Persons.

Mrs S H Hill, wife of Dr N D Hill, died at Port Townsend on Sunday.

James E Morrison and Miss Annie Ganson were married in Seattle on Nov. 6th. They were passengers for San Francisco on the steamer Queen of the Pacific.

Rev Father Van Nevel returned from Departure Bay on this afternoon's train. The reverend gentleman states that the Thetis will arrive at a late hour to-morrow night.

T J Armstrong, the popular deputy sheriff of Westminster, arrived in the city last evening accompanied by his bride, and is registered at the Clarence. The marriage of Mr. Armstrong and Miss Kerr was celebrated at Ladner's yesterday, and Tom's many friends in the city and on the mainland will unite with THE TIMES in wishing him and his bride happiness and prosperity.

POLICE COURT.

[Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q.C.]

John Chadwick, charged with being of unsound mind. Supt. Sheppard said the man was given in charge yesterday afternoon. He fell in a fit across James Bay and was acting very queerly. He was in a fit condition to go at large.

A charge of cruelty to animals was postponed until to-morrow.

A well known medical officer was charged with fast driving over James Bay bridge. The doctor said he had an urgent case across James Bay and is was a case of life and death, and the necessity of reaching the patient was the cause of fast driving.

His Honor.—You drove fast coming back. I do not propose to fine you for going over but I must fine you $5 for driving back.

Charley, a Cowichan Indian, charged with being drunk. Fined $5.

Louis Fruze, on the same charge. Fined $5.

W. Jones was charged with causing a disturbance by being drunk. Officer Abel said he was called in to eject the defendant. Put him out and arrested him.

Jones—Did I try to get away from you?

Officer Abel—Yes, you began to kick and I blew my whistle. I called on another gentleman to be so kind and help me bring defendant to gaol.

Jones—Did you arrest me in the saloon or on the street?

Witness—In the saloon.

The Supt. asked for a remand until to-morrow to produce further evidence.

Ira Bunster, charged with being an inmate of a house of ill-fame.

Mr. Mason said he appeared for the defense. The boy did not appear and the defense would ask for a respite for ten days.

His Honor—I cannot respite the bail. His mother laid a charge against a Chinaman for stealing money some time ago. It was afterwards ascertained that this boy stole the money. He is away from the city and it would be as well for him to stay away.

Moody at Townsend.

An amusing incident occurred at the Moody meeting last night, says the Port Townsend Call. A good, Christian lady asked for the prayers of Christian friends for customs officials. It will not, of course, be deemed improper to remark that spiritual ministration is undoubtedly necessary; but we feel inclined to remark in this connection that the President-elect will concern himself with their worldly interests.

Ah, There! Ben.

Everyone in Donald remembers Mr. Evans, the jolly old gentleman who accompanied Chief Justice Begbie at the last term of the Assize court; and it also seems Mr. Evans remembers some of the young ladies whom he met, as last week one of them received a box of fine apples from him. They were of the Constantine and Glory varieties, 15 of them weighing 22 ounces each, and were grown in Mr. Evans' orchard at Victoria. An impression prevails that Pacific coast apples are not as fine flavored as those grown in Ontario and York state, but these were fully equal in flavor to fruit of the same varieties grown in the east.—Donald Truth.

The Late Archbishop.

The U. S. war steamer Thetis will arrive at Esquimalt on Wednesday evening with the mortal remains of the late lamented Archbishop. On Thursday morning the clergy and committee will proceed to Esquimalt and will convey the remains to the residence of the clergy. The removal of the body from Esquimalt will be private. The last sad rites will be administered on Friday morning at 9 o'clock. The funeral procession will leave the residence of the clergy at that hour and will proceed to the R. C. pro-Cathedral, cor. Yates, Douglas and View streets. Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated and a funeral oration will be delivered by His Lordship Bishop Brondel. The remains will then be removed to the vault beneath the Cathedral.

The Archbishop's Diary.

U. S. Commissioner, S. B. Johnston, of Ounalaska, who is at Departure Bay on the Thetis, has obtained leave of absence and will sojourn for the winter at his home in Richmond, Virginia; returning next spring to his post of duty. Mr. Johnston says that the diary and a number of personal effects belonging to the late Archbishop Seghers are aboard the Thetis and will be turned over to the deceased prelate's executor in Victoria. The diary is written entirely in English, and so far as Mr. Johnston knows, contains no reference whatever to the murderer, Frank Fuller, who, it will be remembered, produced at the trial an extract written in the French language alleged to have been copied from the diary, the purport of which was that the Archbishop believed that Fuller had exhibited signs of insanity.

New Westminster Railway.

Senator Canfield, president of the Bellingham Bay Railway & Navigation Co., who returned to Seattle on Friday from Westminster is formed a reporter that the contract for the construction of 27 miles of the road from New Westminster south to the American line had been let, with the proviso that the work be entirely completed by the 1st of July next. This will bring the line to within about 23 miles of Whatcom, on Bellingham Bay, whence the course of its construction will be south to a junction with the American system of roads at Seattle. Draughtsmen have begun to draw plans for the construction of a ferry, to operate as a transfer boat across Fraser River from the northern terminus of the road to New Westminster, where connection is made with the Canadian Pacific. The plans will be completed within twenty days and the boat will be built as rapidly as possible. The negotiations for the sale of the $250,000 bonds which the city voted as a subsidy to the projectors of of the route have been completed, and the money is now available. Fifty miles of steel rails for the completion of the first twenty-seven miles of the road and an additional 23 miles will be ordered from the United Kingdom within a week, and will be immediately forwarded to the scene of operations. The additional $100,000 offered by the city for the building of the necessary bridge across the Fraser river, will probably be devoted to the construction of the ferry. The company is to finish the construction of the line to Whatcom in two years and from there to Seattle in five years.

DR. GRIFFIN

Arrested on a Charge of Threatening to Murder Hon. R. Dunsmuir.

At 11 o'clock this morning Dr. Hamilton Griffin, the alleged embezzler from Los Angeles and former editor of a weekly edition known as the Social World, was arrested on Government street by Sergt. Walker and Officer Thomas.

The information against the doctor reads as follows: The information and complaint of Henry W. Sheppard of the city of Victoria, taken this 12th day of November, 1888, before the undersigned, one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace in and for the said Province, who saith that he hath just cause to suspect and believe and doth suspect and believe that on the 14th day of August, in the year of our Lord 1888, at the City of Victoria aforesaid, one John Hamilton Griffin, otherwise known as Jean Baptiste Le Blanc, feloniously and maliciously did send, deliver and utter and cause to be received by Robert Dunsmuir a letter or writing directed to the said Robert Dunsmuir, threatening to kill or murder the said Robert Dunsmuir, he, the said John Hamilton Griffin, otherwise known as Jean Baptiste Le Blanc, then well knowing the contents of said letter or writing contrary to the form of statute in and case made and provided.

Dr. Griffin appeared in the dock with a smiling countenance at noon to-day. He wore glasses and a red flower in his button-hole. A pair of kid gloves were on his hands and the his usual sang froid was noticeable as he leaned over the dock and read the information.

Mr. Taylor, of Messrs. Eberts & Taylor, City Barristers, appeared for the prosecution, and asked to strike out the word "John Griffin" and insert the word "Gustavius." That is correct I think, Dr. Griffin? said Mr. Taylor.

Dr. Griffin—Yes. I am anxious to have the name correct.

His Honor—Have you any counsel.

Dr. Griffin—No sir. I intend to defend myself.

Mr. Taylor—I would request the court to ask what the prisoner has to say.

His Honor—I am not trying the case and cannot ask him to plead.

Supt. Sheppard sworn—I am Chief of Police in Victoria. The information is true to the best of my knowledge.

Dr. Griffin—I would like the case to go on. We are prepared to go on. We are suffering in the eyes of the public. There is no man in this city for whom I have more respect than for Mr. Dunsmuir. In my paper and in every way I have shown my respect for him. We would ask for the case to proceed. I am sure Mr. Dunsmuir would not be paticipis criminus in this case, and the defendant is suffering.

Mr. Taylor—This is a police prosecution. Mr. Dunsmuir is not the complainant.

Dr. Griffin—This case is a gross injustice and we are suffering. This thing should be set right immediately.

Supt. Sheppard—Prisoner was arrested at 11 o'clock this morning. The police had no time to call witnesses and a remand is necessary.

His Honor—Well, the case is remanded.

Dr. Griffin—We would ask to be allowed out on bail.

Mr. Taylor—Prisoner is charged with felony, and if convicted is liable to imprisonment for ten years.

Dr. Griffin—We are glad the prosecution has a solid institution like the city behind it Your Honor in this prosecution.

Mr. Taylor—This information was laid by the police.

His Honor.—Have you any bail to offer?

Dr. Griffin—We can find it.

Mr. Taylor—The prosecution will ask for very high bail.

Dr. Griffin.—We will not ask for bail now. We can stay in gaol for one night. It will suit us very well.

DR. GRIFFIN INTERVIEWED.

At the conclusion of the court this morning a TIMES reporter interviewed Dr. Griffin. He was found sitting in the office at the lock-up with his shining plug hat on his head. The reporter was greeted with a pleasant smile and a hearty shake of the hand. The interview was opened by Dr. Griffin stating that he was the happiest man in Victoria to-day, having both the city and Mr. Dunsmuir to fight.

Reporter—Did you ever have any trouble with Mr. Dunsmuir?

Doctor Griffin—I always held him in the highest esteem. In the Social World I always wrote about him in a manner which proves that I esteemed the gentleman and I never said one word against him in my life.

Reporter—Did you know Mr. Dunsmuir personally.

Dr. Griffin—I was introduced to him.

Reporter—Do you own any coal lands?

Dr. Griffin—I did own some coal lands at Nanaimo. I sold the lands to the Oregon Improvement Company of New York City.

Reporter—Have you any enemies?

Dr. Griffin—I have no idea who my enemies are. Perhaps I made some enemies through my mines.

Reporter—Did you hear anything regarding this arrest before this morning?

Dr. Griffin—Mr. J. A. Cohen, my printer, told me a few days ago that certain parties had been to his printing office to compare some handwriting. He told me that he thought there was something wrong. I told Mr. Cohen that I had nothing to fear from Mr. Dunsmuir.

Reporter—The information states that your alias is LeBlanc.

Dr. Griffin—My nom de plume is Cosmos. I deny ever using the name Le Blanc. You can state that Mr. Dunsmuir supplied myself and my men with tickets over his road. I could entertain nothing but the highest respect for him. You will please state that I am only too happy to put in my first night in the lock-up, considering that I have such a solid man as Mr. Dunsmuir and an institution like the corporation of this city to bring this charge against me.

THE CHARGE.

The charge, it will be observed, has reference to events that are alleged to have taken place three months ago, on the 14th of August; Hon. Mr. Dunsmuir, on or about that time received letters, written in Greek and Spanish and signed by a fictitious name, possibly Jean Baptiste LeBlanc, under which alias the doctor has been charged in court. When translated, the contents were found to be a threat to kill the receiver, Mr. Dunsmuir. Other letters of the same tenor were received at subsequent dates, but the matter was divulged only to the police, who have ever since been working up the case. M. Lopatecki, who translated the letters, was subsequently threatened with death if he mixed himself up in the case, and two San Francisco detectives, who were employed in the case, and are now in Victoria, were the recipients of similar epistles, and from the same anonymous sender. Suspicion was early pointed to Dr. Griffin, but for reasons unknown to us. The doctor was watched night and day and his every movement carefully noted. The letters that he wrote, and how and when he mailed them, and other acts, are now as well known to the police as they are to himself, and he will possibly be confronted at his trial with an authentic history of his life for the past three months. The police are evidently in possession of facts that justify the arrest, for it has been done deliberately and after careful consideration. They must be in possession of proof, and doubtless have not been working for three months for nothing. The charge is a very serious one, and renders the prisoner liable, if it be proved, to ten years imprisonment. The case comes up for hearing to-morrow morning when the prosecution will divulge the nature of the evidence they have against the unhappy prisoner, who has thus added another chapter to a remarkable record of strange adventures.

ENGLISH CHARACTER.

Portrayed in Song and Story—A Successful Entertainment.

The Philharmonic Hall was about two-thirds filled last night with a very appreciative audience judging by the frequent encores. God Save the Queen by the Band of C Battery opened the programme, which was followed by an overture, "The Little King," which was very well rendered. Miss Matthews then sang, "The Captive Greek Girl." She has a sweet voice and rendered this song very nicely indeed. The next item was a flute solo by Mr. Blanchard, which was well received. A song by Mr. Tiarks entitled "The Postilion" was also well received. Rev. Mr. McLeod then gave his sketch of "The Humorous side of English Character" and certainly this was the best of the first part of the entertainment. Mr. McLeod enters into the humor of the thing himself and portrays in an inimitable manner the numerous phases of wit common to Englishmen. A vocal galop by C Battery band was a novelty. During the performance a number of the band stopped playing and sang the air which was the well known one of John Peel. Mr. Whyte gave a sermon on "Mother Hubbard," which afforded the audience considerable amusement.

The second part of the programme began with an overture, "Maid of Athens," by the band, which was very well received. A song by Miss Bate, an old favorite, was very nicely sung, and for which she received an encore. Professor Strauss then favored the audience with a violin solo and fairly electrified those present by his wonderful playing. He was encored and played several well-known Scotch airs which roused the audience to enthusiasm. Another song by Mr. Tiarks, "They All Love Jack" was well rendered and received a good measure of applause. Mr. Whyte treated the audience to a reading, "How My Friend Proposed," keeping his hearers convulsed in laughter from beginning to end. He was encored and gave "Notman and the Express." A song by Miss Matthews entitled the "Distant Shore," was nicely sung, the singer being possessed of a sweet clear voice. "Rule Britannia," by the band, the whole audience standing, brought the programme to a close. The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers, and tastefully hung with flags, &c. The hall was also freshened with a few evergreens, relieving the monotony of the bare walls. On the whole the young people of St. Andrew's Church have reason to be gratified, for although the house was not as large nor the performance quite up to their first excellent entertainment, it sent everyone away satisfied. The duties of chairman were performed by the Rev. Mr. Macleod in his usual dignified and graceful manner. The accompaniments were played by Mr. L. Buttress Trimmens. THE TIMES' musical critic, "Demi Semi Quaver" will refer to the entertainment on Saturday.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
